FBI, Police Join Hunt In Child Kidnap

New York Infant Snatching Second Case This Month

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman kidnaped a 23-day-old child from a West Side apartment Thursday. It was the city's second baby abduction this year.

Police and the FBI had teamed up in an all-night search of the Manhattan area where the child lived.

Missing from his family apartment was John Tavaraz, whose mother had been sent off on a wild-goose chase hunt by a woman she met just two days ago. The grief-stricken father broadcast a radio and TV appeal for the baby's return.

Authorities described the woman as being about 5 feet 2, weighing about 160 pounds, having brown hair with blonde streaks, and "obviously pregnant." They said she was wearing a dark blue coat and black shoes, and probably was Cuban. They said she was wearing a "slave bracelet" chain on her left leg.

Two other Tavaraz children, Josephine, 5, and Doris, 3, also left in the care of the missing woman, were found in the apartment of a neighbor.

The distraught mother, Mrs. Doraliza Tavaraz, 31, said she had met the woman Wednesday at Metropolitan Hospital, where she brought the little boy for treatment of a cold. The mother said the woman had given her name as Mrs. Gladys Garcia and told her she was receiving prenatal care at the hospital.

Mrs. Tavaraz said she was changing John's diaper when the woman came over and helped her. It was raining, and the woman gave Mrs. Tavaraz and her baby a ride back home in a taxicab.

Mrs. Tavaraz said she and Mrs. Garcia had discussed the difficulties of raising a family in cramped quarters. She quoted Mrs. Garcia as saying she might be able to help find a better apartment. The Tavarazes occupy a 7½-room flat. Mrs. Tavaraz said Mrs. Garcia had appeared at her second-floor apartment about 2 p.m. Thursday and given her an address of a "good" apartment in the Bronx, advising her to get there quickly.

Accompanied by a family friend, Mariano Duma, 29, a bus boy, Mrs. Tavaraz went to the Bronx address. It turned out to be that of a post office.

Ex-Congressman Dies CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas S. Gordon, 65, Democratic representative in Congress for eight terms, starting in 1942, died Thursday. He recently underwent a major operation. Gordon did not seek a ninth term in his Chicago 8th District last fall.

N. Y. Detectives Stage Raid On Apartment, Four Nabbed NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives posing as out-of-town professional men raided a well-furnished Manhattan apartment Thursday night and arrested four women on vice charges.

Five businessmen found in the apartment were not arrested. The raid was led by First Dep. Police Commissioner James R. Kennedy, who is heading a police probe into the call girl racket touched off by allegations made on a nationwide radio program.

Kennedy, who entered the apartment in the raid with five detectives, said the establishment had been operating for about six months.

Deaths, Damage Rise

Storm, Floods Take Heavy Toll In U. S.

By The Associated Press

A massive cold wave knifed across the Eastern half of the country today in the wake of winter's most severe and destructive weather, which left a heavy toll of dead and homeless.

Storms abated, and floods in some areas appeared easing. But the punishing blows from the violent midwinter snow, sleet, and rain storms and floods left many sections staggering.

Conditions were in the disaster stage in some of the flood-stricken regions.

At least 80 persons were dead from floods and other effects of the storms in 14 states from New Mexico to the Eastern seaboard.

Damage to property was in the millions of dollars. No estimate could be made of the human misery and suffering in the flooded sections of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky and Indiana.

Although the influx of cold weather appeared lessening the flood danger in some of the five states, thousands remained homeless. The cold also added to the suffering. Downstate communities still were threatened by further damage and evacuations.

Thousands of workers were idled in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York as steel mills, coal mines, and other industries shut down because of floods. Roads were inundated, curtailing travel. Hundreds of schools remained closed.

A state of emergency was declared in many sections of western Pennsylvania and some Ohio cities.

The threat of serious flooding in Pittsburgh passed, but the swollen Ohio River menaced downstream areas as it surged into Wheeling, W. Va., Steubenville and possibly East Liverpool, Ohio.

The flooding Allegheny River and its tributaries caused heavy damage in western Pennsylvania. Ohio reported 12 persons lost their lives in the floods, the worst in the state in 25 years. Other storm-related deaths included 13 each in Illinois and Wisconsin; Iowa 8, Indiana, Texas, and Michigan 6 each; Kansas, Kentucky, and New York 5 each; New Mexico 3; Oklahoma and Missouri 2 each, and New Jersey and Pennsylvania 1 each.

The fresh outbreak of cold weather was not expected to moderate much during the day, except in Southern areas.

TV, Radio Broken, Hardship For Hubby

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A man who asked for quick service to repair his radio and television set explained why the special speed was needed: "With both sets broken last night I had to sit and talk with my wife."

This Prowler Frozen Stiff

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Lansing police car sped through the predawn darkness. Police had a report that a man was lurking outside a local residence.

Officers said the man stood motionless as they raced up to him. In fact, they added, he looked frozen stiff.

But how else would a snow-man look?

Living Costs Take Decline In BLS Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs dipped two-tenths of one percent in December—their first decline since August.

Lower prices for food, automobiles and clothing overbalanced increases in rents, other housing items, medical care and other consumer costs.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics price index declined to 123.7 percent of the 1947-49 average, the base.

In reporting this today, the bureau noted the index stood 1.7 percent higher than December, 1957. The December index was exactly the same as that of last September and last June.

Some 700,000 workers whose pay rates are geared to quarterly and semiannual adjustments of the index consequently will receive no change in pay.

Brother Killer Declared Insane By Psychiatrists

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — An 18-year-old boy who killed his younger brother, describing him as an inferior person who had to die, has been judged insane.

Bruce H. Ginn was ordered committed to a state hospital for treatment Thursday. Five of six psychiatrists who examined him described him as mentally ill.

The boy had not spoken to his brother, Edward, 14, for more than a year at the time he shot him last November when they were alone in the house. He faces a murder trial if he recovers.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Gradual improvement was reported early today in the condition of Gov. William Egan of Alaska.

Egan, 44, remained on the critical list, however, and doctors said it still would be a few days before his full recovery is assured.

The Democratic governor underwent emergency surgery Tuesday for a paralysis of the abdomen and a bowel blockage, an after-math of a gall bladder operation in Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 6.

First Cuban Trial Ends, Death Fixed

Castro "Showcase" Court Verdict Gets Approval Of Throng

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The defendant in Havana's first showcase war crimes trial was convicted just before dawn today and sentenced to death.

A three-man tribunal of Fidel Castro's revolutionary officers found Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, 51, a career army officer, guilty on five counts of murder, homicide, robbery, looting and damage. The verdict was returned after a trial of almost eight hours and more than four hours of deliberation by the three judges.

Thousands Attend Trial A crowd of 17,000 shouting, jeering Cubans who had jammed Havana's Sports Palace for the start of the trial had gone home hours before. Only about 300 newsmen and armed, bearded guards from Castro's forces heard the verdict as it was read out in the sports arena.

Sosa Blanco's counsel, Capt. Aristides Decosta, had said he would appeal a conviction to a five-man Superior Court provided under the new legal code put in effect after dictator Fulgencio Batista's overthrow Jan. 1. The higher court has not yet been named.

Decosta had challenged the legality of trials under that code, contending that all crimes charged to Sosa Blanco were allegedly committed before Jan. 14 and that the death penalty did not exist then.

The Cuban Constitution of 1940 barred capital punishment. It was modified by decree Jan. 15 to permit executions for war crimes. Decosta's argument also applies to the estimated 1,500 Batista partisans arrested since the dictator's overthrow, and to the 250 or more persons already executed by Castro's firing squads.

Sosa Blanco's trial was the first of three Castro had announced for the Havana Sports Palace to justify to the world his speedy military judgment of Batistas, some executed.

Another trial was scheduled to get under way this afternoon, but it was not known how the slow progress of the first hearing would affect the schedule.

400 Newsmen On Hand Nearly 400 foreign newsmen were in Havana at Castro's invitation for the demonstration of his justice.

The revolutionary chief told a news conference Thursday that the trials and executions will end "as soon as possible and the sooner the better. Only the most notorious criminals are being selected for trials before revolutionary tribunals."

The bearded leader, who now is chief of Cuban armed forces, repeated his estimate that "not more than 400" persons will be executed for the 20,000 murders he claims Batista's dictatorship perpetrated in its six-year reign.

Egan Improving, Still Critical

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Gradual improvement was reported early today in the condition of Gov. William Egan of Alaska.

Egan, 44, remained on the critical list, however, and doctors said it still would be a few days before his full recovery is assured.

The Democratic governor underwent emergency surgery Tuesday for a paralysis of the abdomen and a bowel blockage, an after-math of a gall bladder operation in Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 6.

Rocket Cone Test Failure At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — That old bugbear of rocketry—failure of an upper stage to fire—foiled an attempt to test a futuristic nose cone over intercontinental range early today.

A Thor-Able rocket, with a sharp, dagger-like nose cone probably rose about 65 miles above the earth on the start of a 5,000-mile flight. But all the Air Force's elaborate preparations to recover the cone went for naught when the rocket's second stage failed to ignite.

The 90-foot, two-stage rocket was the fourth in the Thor-Able test series, but it was the first to be fitted with the sharp, tapered nose cone which may be used on small, solid-fuel intercontinental ballistic missiles still on the drawing boards.

It was learned that the new nose cone design will probably be used in the solid-fuel, lightweight intercontinental ballistic missiles of the future. The only small ICBM now being developed is the Minuteman, for which Boeing has the prime contract.

Several important firings here in the last year have been foiled by failure of an upper stage, including the Air Force's Moonshot, and several Vanguard and Jupiter-C satellite launching rockets.

College Fire Routs 1,200

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Flames swept through one of this country's biggest college dormitories early today, routing its estimated 1,200 occupants.

All the male students were believed to have made their way safely out of the four-story structure on the campus of Mississippi State University.

"As far as we know, there were no injuries," fireman Harry M. Teasley reported.

Two Children Fire Victims In Alexandria

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Two small boys were burned to death and three other members of the family injured when fire swept through their Fairfax County home today.

The dead children were identified as sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Betz. Firemen said the boys were about one and three years old.

The parents and another son, William, age 2, were taken to Alexandria Hospital in undetermined condition. A fourth child, Carolyn, 6, escaped without injury, firemen said.

The three-room clapboard house is located about a mile from Arlington, Va., on a street named Pikes. Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by a defective kerosene stove.

The hospital said the three injured members of the family were being treated for burns of the face, arms and legs.

Crews Push Attempt To Save Twelve

Pennsylvania Mine Flooded, 44 Reach Safety At Pittston

By ROBERT L. MULLER

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) — Hope faded today for 12 miners trapped by icy waters in an anthracite mine after the swollen Susquehanna River breached a hole in a tunnel below the river bed and swirled into the honeycomb of diggings.

Under the unwritten law of the coal mine fields — "never leave a buddy down below" — rescuers spared no effort, expense in a frantic effort to reach them. Their only hope was that they managed to crawl into air pockets above the still rising water-level.

Crews Dig All Night

The volunteer rescue crews, directed by federal, state and company experts, dug throughout the night in remote shafts and tunnels in efforts to break through to some still-dry subterranean corridors where the missing may have found refuge.

Company records showed that 56 miners had been working in various sections of the firm's operations when the water broke through. For hours there was confusion about what happened to them until the company ascertained definitely that 44 had reached the surface and the 12 still were missing.

Forty-four of the miners working deep underground managed to reach safety after the ice-clogged river drained through a hole 20 feet in diameter into the quarter-mile long tunnel along an emptying shaft Thursday. They were greeted with whoops of joy by relatives and friends standing vigil around the numerous entrances to mine shafts.

Disaster Hits Hard

The disaster hit the anthracite community hard. Unlike other mine tragedies of previous years, it caused veteran miners to vow they never again would go underground.

The financial loss also may further cripple the anthracite fields already depressed because of the decline in demand for hard coal.

The flood waters kept pouring into the interlinked mine shafts, tunnels and slopes, reaching some diggings eight miles away.

One mine engineer estimated it would take two years to pump out the water if such a huge project could be financed.

Leaders of the rescue workers said they would try to rearrange the hundreds of thousands of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

DeMille Rites Will Be Simple, Big Crowd Seen

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cecil B. De Mille, a master of pomp in life, will be buried today with simplicity.

The brief rites at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church will contain no eulogy, little organ music.

But television coverage and an expected big crowd outside the church will undoubtedly add what movie people call "The De Mille spectacle touch."

One of his doctors told a reporter that the 77-year-old movie pioneer, who died Wednesday, would be alive today had he been an obedient patient.

"When he went to New Orleans a few weeks ago to promote a movie," the doctor said, "I forbade him and told him bluntly: 'This trip will kill you. Don't go.'"

But De Mille answered: "I must go."

Symington Predicts Russia Far Ahead In Missile Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) contended today that Soviet Russia will have four times more intercontinental ballistic missiles in 1961 than are planned by the Eisenhower administration.

Symington, secretary of the Air Force in the Democratic administration of former President Truman, said that "far from planning to close the current ICBM gap, the administration is actually allowing it to widen."

Symington's statements in a prepared Senate speech disregarded reports of comparative U.S.-Soviet ICB strength given Thursday by Secretary of Defense McElroy in a news conference.

McElroy said there is no positive evidence that Russia is ahead in ICBM's capable of combat use.

"We do not believe that Russia has an ICBM capable of operation against this country at this time," McElroy said.

The defense chief added that he believes reports Russia will have 300 ICBM's by 1960 are exaggerated.

Symington told the Senate that President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and other administration spokesmen had failed to answer his challenges to tell the public the facts about relative U.S.-Soviet strength in missiles and other military power.

Census Taker Jobs Promised 'Faithful' In 1960

however administration's reputed failure to consult with members of Congress and local officials in handing out federal jobs. Another has been Alcorn's failure to check with congressional leaders on 1960 campaign plans.

John B. Martin Jr., Michigan national committeeman, brought the patronage matter out into the open with the observation that he had been informed the Commerce Department will hire 100,000 persons in its 1960 census operation.

Marlin said he wants to be sure deserving Republicans share liberally in this windfall, which he said would provide employment for several months at pay ranging up to $400 a month.

Alcorn replied that this matter "is well in hand." He said he had conferred with Secretary of Commerce Strauss and other high administration officials and had been assured that the patronage program was going to be available through local Republican channels.

Alcorn lacked any immediate, not cleared it with anyone, solution, however, of an issue raised by Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown, Ohio committeewoman.

She contended that Republicans in Congress had not been consulted in advance about the long-range program (the chairman laid to rest before the National Committee Thursday).

Alcorn replied sharply that he had drawn up the program at the President's request. He said he had submitted it to Eisenhower as a confidential memo and had

WASHINGTON (AP)—James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Thursday he knows of no "severe split" in President Eisenhower's Cabinet over civil rights legislation.

A reporter told Hagerty at a news conference he had heard that there is such a split regarding the civil rights proposals Eisenhower intends to send to Congress soon. The press secretary at first declined comment. Asked specifically then whether the report was true, Hagerty replied: "Not that I know."

Krywicki was one of a group of men who wandered for hours through the dungeon darkness before finding a light and safety.

Red Claims Rocket Trips Show No Sign Of Angels

NEW YORK (AP)—A Soviet scientist claimed yesterday rockets flying through space place doubt on the existence of God. But a U.S. rocket expert called that comment an example of moral backwardness.

Man's probings of space have neither met angels nor discovered a Supreme Being, said E. T. Padeyev in a Radio Moscow broadcast heard in London.

He then concluded that lack of evidence of the All Highest bears testimony against religious convictions and strengthens disbelief in God.

Three prominent U.S. scientists commented, however, that the Soviet scientist was going far afield from the technical achievements of space.

"The existence of satellites and moon rockets is quite irrelevant to the existence of God," said Dr. William H. Pickering of Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.

"The capacity to launch rockets is technological," Pickering said. "The capacity to believe in God is moral."

"While the Russians have shown a vast technical competency in rockets, they have demonstrated once again with this statement—if it is widely believed in Russia—their backwardness as a moral nation," he added.

Dr. Pickering's laboratory fashioned much of U.S. missile power and built the Explorer satellites.

Bosley, Ex-PSC Head, House Member, Dies

BALTIMORE (AP)—Charles B. Bosley, former Maryland legislator and one-time chairman of the Public Service Commission, died yesterday at Johns Hopkins Hospital after an illness of several months. He was 71.

Bosley was named to the PSC in 1942 and served four years as chairman, starting in 1950. Prior to his service with the PSC he was on the State Industrial Accident Commission for two years.

A Democrat, he was elected to the House of Delegates from Baltimore County in the early 1920s. In 1938 he was defeated in the race for judge of the Third Judicial Circuit.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The family of an Army private from Baltimore did not know the soldier was among four being held by East German Communists until it tried to notify him of his father's death, a spokesman for the family said yesterday.

The Army identified Pvt. James W. Hayes, 21, as one of the four being held.

Robert Scaferbein, a brother-in-law, said Hayes' father died Wednesday night and his family did not learn of his detention until it contacted the Red Cross to ask that the soldier be notified.

Scaferbein said the family had not heard from Hayes since before Christmas and did not know he had been reported missing Dec. 26 from his unit, the 6th Infantry Regiment.

At the same time, Dr. Harold H. Haskin urged officials to push their investigation into the nature of the disease which has crippled the oyster industry in this area and elsewhere in the nation and Canada.

Haskin's comments were made yesterday at the conclusion of an all-day conference at the Rutgers University Marine Research Station here attended by marine biologists from Virginia, Maryland, Canada and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, local government officials and commercial oyster-

Haskin said the best chance for the industry's recovery lies in the development of an oyster strain with a natural resistance to the disease.

Kessel Backs
County Level
Vehicle Bill

CHARLESTON — Del. Joe Bill Kessel (R-Mineral) declared today that he will throw his all-out support to House Bill 73.

The measure calls for issuance of motor vehicle titles, licenses and registration plates at the county level.

"This legislation would be a boon to motorists of Mineral County," the law-maker asserted. He said he had planned to introduce such a measure in his own right "but someone beat me to the punch."

The delegate reported he has discussed the matter with county officials at Keyser "and they're all for it." "Every year a number of Mineral countyans drive 250 miles to Charleston to get their license plates before the deadline falls," he stated.

Kessel said some Keyser-area motorists pay someone a fee to bring their plates from the state's capitol city. "I can think of no bona fide reason why this public-serving function should not be carried out at the 55 county seats," he observed. He added: "It would most certainly save our motorists money, time and headaches."

Heat From Mine Causes Cave-in
FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Heat from an abandoned coal mine which has burned underground several years caused a portion of W. Va. 73 near Booths-ville, Marion County, to cave in.

The cave-in all but closed off a five-mile section of the road, but some brave motorists got around the large hole by using the berm. The hole at the center was some 10 feet deep and about 15 feet in diameter.

The heat from the old mine was so intense that it melted some of the asphalt in the cave-in portion of the highway.

Residents of the area said they have complained several times to

City Hall Work Is Progressing At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — City Hall is undergoing a face-lifting with the night shift of municipal employees repainting the room after regular duties have been performed. The ceiling and woodwork is being painted white while the walls are of a light blue.

Other work going on in the adjoining Fire Department includes the covering of steps with rubber treads and risers. This two-story stairway leads to second floor quarters and Teen Town on the third floor. Work was recently completed on the installation of a new ceiling, walls and entrance in the stairway.

With the completion of the stairway work, a project started approximately five years ago on remodeling the second and third floors of the fire hall will be completed. The room occupied by Teen Town had new floors laid, was redecorated, a number of windows closed with glass blocks and new furniture installed. The second floor was remodeled for a lounge and meeting place for the firemen and included a new kitchen, tile floors, removal of partitions and new drapes and furniture. Ladies of Teen Town made and installed the drapes.

Faculty Hears Talk

Robert Pence, physical education director of the Board of Education, met with the faculty of Hill Street School Tuesday and spoke on the physical fitness of children.

A study of a school day in regard to time used in aiding children in the participation of games of physical development was made. Results tabulated on the fitness of each child are prepared by the teachers who will return them to Pence for further study. Corrective exercises will be given to the children who require them.

John Manley, principal, announced that a Physical Health Day will be held in May when parents will be invited to see their children in action. This will be a modified track and field program.

Tank Truck Needs Cited

WESTERNPORT—Chief Paul Michael, William Mayles and Clyde Michael, representing Potomac Fire Company 2, conferred with the Mayor and Commissioners Wednesday night regarding the possibility of securing additional housing for proposed new rolling equipment.

Purchase of a new tank truck is being considered, the firemen stated, but action cannot be taken until arrangements are made for housing it. All available space in the fire hall of the town building is occupied by present equipment. The company's squad car was sold because it could not be stored in a satisfactory garage, they explained.

A new tank truck would enable the firemen to use fog or spray nozzles to a greater extent than at present, the delegation explained. This method is more effective than the old style of fighting fire with a large stream of water under pressure. A tank truck with a capacity of approximately 1,500 gallons is preferred by the firemen.

The difficulties that the firemen experience in getting the large trucks into and out of the present garage in the town building was mentioned by the firemen. A new firemen's building was considered as the best solution to the several problems. Further consideration will be given by both the officials and firemen to the problems and possible solutions.

Mayor Will stated that there is still $1,520 in the funds budgeted for the fire company.

Service Of Rededication Set Sunday At Hyndman

HYNDMAN — Hyndman Methodist Church will hold a rededication service Sunday at 10:30 a. m. with Dr. Paul F. Warner, superintendent of the Hagerstown District of the Methodist Church, as speaker.

New lighting effects for the sanctuary and brass altar pieces will be presented by Mrs. Ida Wagner and John Sater in memory of her parents, Mrs. Laura Virginia Crabbe and Albin George Crabbe, and Sater's wife, Mrs. Blanche Sater.

Open house will be held at 3 p. m., followed by vespers and a recognition service at 4. A fellowship dinner is planned for 5:30.

The rededication of the church follows a renovation program costing $7,000 — consisting of plastering, carpeting and lighting of the old church unit. Under the direction of the Finance Commission, one half of the needed amount was subscribed and paid during the month of November and December.

In developing a brief history for the rededication it was found that Methodists were at work and holding a meeting at the home of a John W. Wilhelm as early as 1810, and that a building had been erected and was in use in 1851. Located on Goose Berry Avenue. It was a frame building, 25 by 30 feet. The present building was erected in 1876 on Hyndman on First Avenue under the leadership of Rev. J. L. Walsh. This was later changed, placing the altar at the side in 1903. In 1911

Illegal Ads Counts Filed Against Man

A local man who operates a dental laboratory has been charged on two unusual counts of unlawful advertising, according to the state's attorney's office.

Norman Dee Beglin, who operates a dental laboratory at 244 North Centre Street, was arrested yesterday on a warrant obtained by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney.

Mason said Beglin, trading as Norman Dee Distributors, violated Section 25, Article 32 of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

This law states it is unlawful to advertise to the general public to construct, produce or repair prosthetic dentures, plates, bridges or other appliances to be used or worn as substitutes for natural teeth.

Mason said Beglin violated this law by having an advertisement read by a local radio station. The other count was placed against Beglin, trading as the Cumberland Dental Laboratory, for placing an ad in the local telephone directory.

The warrant was issued by Magistrate Morris Byron and the arrest was made by Constable Robert W. Turnbull.

Beglin was released after posting $600 bond. He will be given a hearing on the two counts next Thursday at 10 a. m. in Trial Magistrate Court.

Mason said the penalty on each charge is a $50 to $300 fine or 15 days in jail.

Demo Leaders Hope To Raise Public Funds

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Democratic leaders of the Legislature hope to raise upwards of $11,000,000 for schools, mental hospitals and public assistance through amendments to the consumers and gross sales tax laws, it was disclosed today.

An informed source told United Press International that the tax "package" agreed to Wednesday by the 10-member Democratic steering committee, includes these proposals:

- Extension of the consumers sales tax to public utility bills, to raise an additional $3,600,000.
- Extension of consumers sales tax to contracting, $3,000,000.
- Elimination of consumers sales tax exemption to retail stores, $250,000.
- Elimination of the exemption to agriculture—$500,000.
- Extension of the gross sales tax to professional persons—$1,500,000.

Total new revenue from these five sources would be $8,900,000. The package also includes extension of the gross sales tax to industrial credit organizations, which would raise an amount not yet determined, but estimated at between $1,500,000 and $6,000,000.

Gross Sales Tax Reduction Bill Up To Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill to allow gross sales tax payers in West Virginia to withhold 25 per cent of the amount due the state and to invest it in projects designed to help promote new industry was introduced in the House of Delegates Thursday.

Del. Marshall G. West (D-Wyoming) sponsored the measure which would remain in effect only through 1962.

Under provisions of the measure, any gross sales tax payer could certify to the state tax commissioner a desire to withhold 25 per cent of the tax due the state and then take 12 months to invest the money.

The bill requires such investment to be made in plant sites, roads to such sites, buildings and machinery "within the boundaries of the state."

A penalty for declaring the exemption and not using as provided for by law would subject the taxpayer to a 1-15 year prison sentence and a fine in the amount equal to one and one-half times the exemption retained.

Another provision of the measure would prohibit the taxpayer from investing the money in his own business "either directly or by subterfuge."

Following the demonstration Mrs. Cole served the prepared food and hot chocolate to the girls and leaders attending.

W. Virginia College Fees To Be Hiked

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Beginning in the 1959-60 school year it will cost more money to attend the nine state-supported colleges in West Virginia, the State Board of Education has announced.

The new fees announced by the board will be $100 a year additional for West Virginia students and $25 annually for out-of-state students. That means state students will pay $75 per semester, compared to $187.50 by out-of-staters.

The board's action, at a one-day meeting here, followed a suggestion by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood during his state-of-the-state message to the Legislature Jan. 14. The Governor said he felt tuition fees should be raised at least $100 a year.

Meanwhile, the board said the start of construction of a new health and physical education building at Marshall College had been delayed again. Six bids on the project were received, but in each case, they exceeded the amount of money authorized.

Earlier, the board set a maximum of $1,350,000 for the building. The low base bid of $1,627,700 was submitted by Baker & Coombs Inc., Morgantown.

State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough was authorized to ask the Legislature for some $150,000 to participate in a new federal education program.

Rohrbough told the board the $150,000 would permit West Virginia to participate in four areas of the National Defense Education Act. Some $2,000,000 of state and county money would be needed to match, on a 50-50 basis, federal money which will be available for aid to education over the next four years, he said.

The board also approved a resolution designed to tighten college preparatory and high school graduation requirements and a report on college budget revisions to take care of a 5 per cent spending cut ordered by the State Board of Public Works.

The resolution would, among other things, require college-bound students to take two years of high school mathematics instead of one and two years of science instead of one. It also requires them to take four years of English without substituting any other courses. The resolution recommended these students be given two years of foreign language and that all graduates earn at least 17 units instead of 16.

The board set Feb. 25-26 as the dates for its next meeting.

Andrew Jackson was the oldest man ever to hold the office of President of the United States.

Bedford Area Schools To Be Inspected For Fire Hazards

BEDFORD—All Bedford County school buildings are expected to get the once-over from the State Department of Labor and Industry's fire inspector.

Dr. Samuel S. Steinberger, county superintendent of schools, said it was formerly thought the department's fire inspector would inspect just the six school buildings listed as unsafe by a previous department inspection, but it appears now that every school building in the county will undergo another fire inspection.

Harold Shepley of Stoytown, the department's inspector, examined two school buildings in Everett this week, and will return to continue the inspection.

"No report has been made and no action taken as a result of the inspection," Dr. Steinberger said. "We have no way of knowing what Shepley's findings were until he files his report," he stated.

The two buildings, both now used for elementary purposes, are the Everett Grade School and the former Everett High School. Both structures are of brick construction and were built 50 years ago.

"Ultimately every school building in the county will be inspected," Steinberger added, "but the six buildings formerly listed as unsafe will probably be the first ones to be checked."

"I was with Shepley during his half-day stay in Everett," Steinberger said, "and I can say that the inspections are very thorough. He examines everything very carefully, covering the basements, closets, stair wells, wiring, heating, wiring systems, etc."

Two buildings listed unsafe in the earlier report from Harrisburg are not now in use. Hyndman Grade School was abandoned in October, 1938, with the opening of a new grade school building nearby, and Barnetts-town School in the Tussey Mountain Jointure has not been used since this year.

Four other schools particularly earmarked for inspection are in the Tussey Mountain Jointure. They will be inspected before other schools in the county.

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Disheartening

YOU CAN'T EXPOSE a man to television cameras for a solid hour, as we did Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, without learning a good deal about him. And what Americans saw and heard can hardly be a cause for cheering, or even modest hopes. The real news was not what he said about Berlin, or Germany, or the Cold War. It was the disheartening revelation of the Russian Communist pattern of thinking. Magnified under the glare of TV close-ups, this was a genuine shock. Terribly clear now is the fact that we are not just poles apart from the Soviet Union, but are traveling in totally different thinking orbits.

MIKOYAN answered almost no question directly in his appearance on NBC's "Meet the Press." But it misses the point simply to say he ducked and dodged. He offered answers which may seem perfectly valid to Russian Reds. By the Kremlin's accepted standard of double-think — turning facts upside down, giving them any meaning that suits purpose — it made sense to say we are at fault everywhere and Russia nowhere, not even in repressed Hungary. Watching Mikoyan at work on TV you get the idea, however, that something more than double-think is involved. He seemed to turn almost instinctively from straight dealing on any topic — except thank you and goodbye. One could not help but be reminded here of documented diplomatic accounts of Russian diplomacy in the 19th century, long before the Communists gained power.

WESTERN diplomats then were in wide agreement that Russian diplomats regarded lying, duplicity, broken promises and all the other devices of distrust as the vital tools of their trade. The Russians were notorious throughout Europe as being totally untrustworthy. No one imagines the Communists have any respect for truth. But in their formal practice of deception as the rule of life, they appear only to be compounding a duplicity already firmly fixed in the character of Russian government. As a Russian and a Communist, Mikoyan did not let tradition down. He left with us the big question: "How do you negotiate reasonably with men who believe that because they lie to gain their ends, everyone else must surely lie, too?"

The Big Stick

THE BATTLE GOES on between those who think juvenile delinquents need tough treatment and those who favor a softer line. Britain, plagued with delinquents known as Teddy Boys, lately has been placing criminal repeaters in camps for periods up to three months, under hard discipline. Basically these are work camps with a difficult daily grind. The standard prison atmosphere is missing; the stress is on outdoor effort in considerable measure. The boys are stripped of their absurd badges of identity — odd getups and haircuts. The big thing seems to be that for most of them this is the first real discipline they've ever known. Up to now authority has been a thing they have grown up to defy. They are being taught, by rigid means, to respect it. And the system seems to be working very well. Perhaps it's something we ought to try with our straying youths. Certainly we can't go on indefinitely either dumping them into overcrowded jails or turning them loose to work, again, their harm upon society.

Subjects Differ

WHEN AN OLD soldier reminisces, as President Eisenhower did the other day before a large assemblage of newsmen, he's usually at his best. This occasion was no exception. The President relaxed as soon as he got into the familiar vein, talking of wartime events and comrades. He felt at home. And he spoke with a clarity and assurance that could come only from thorough knowledge. Unhappily he finds it harder to display a similar confidence when he talks informally of the issues of government. The precision a military man normally brings to his thinking about tactics and strategy does not necessarily carry over into the complexities of national and world affairs. How Mr. Eisenhower and all the other generals fought World War II will be a subject of study in the war colleges of many nations for years to come. His informal utterances on general affairs are not likely to command similar attention from our professors of English.

Ike Forces Now Face Strong Leadership

WASHINGTON — The Lyndon Johnson pilot model of the Presidency took off with civil rights gas in its tanks. Liberals promptly questioned the high-octane quality of the Johnson fuel, but all hands had to admit it contained every ingredient the Eisenhower mixers were planning to put into their civil rights propellant.

The majority leader's action followed by a few hours a trial spin in the labor field by Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Kennedy is seeking some Presidential attitude with last year's model which Republicans voted down in the House.

variety of other fields, including space and defense.

NEW frontiers and sweeping reforms play no part in Johnson's grand design. He argues that they are presently impossible and would only give the President plausible grounds for the veiled Republicans say he will hurl at "Democratic spending."

What the Texan is seeking is legislation of immediate appeal, with its scope and cost sufficiently restricted so that the President will have a hard time rejecting it. While his majority is impressive, he points out, it would still be difficult to muster the two-thirds of the Senate needed to override a veto.

scarcely veiled by the insistence that no personal offense is meant. To date, Republicans have not devised a newer answer than the "I like Ike" which met the case during the long Eisenhower honeymoon.

WHAT JOHNSON is mainly creating here is excitement and an atmosphere of ferment. Democrats are among the first critics to insist that it is more atmosphere than action, but the contrast between the heavy air at the White House and the air on the Hill is all in Johnson's favor. Nor is the American temperament congenial to the veto power as opposed to action and at least seeming advance.

The Johnson solution of the civil rights struggle will not be approved without a fight. The South seems resigned, but there will be attempted amendments and substitute bills to which it will not be resigned.

Perhaps the majority leader is seeking to press his early triumph farther than it will go. The betting is that he will prevail, and at least one proved Democratic civil rights advocate is already asking to co-sponsor his bill.

Question: Can Inflation Be Controlled?

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's a lot of argument ahead over how inflation will be controlled — if it can be controlled. The administration's program is spelled out in President Eisenhower's new economic report to the Congress. But it will be criticized by many as inadequate for the job. It seems to pay more attention to business than to consumers.

More emphasis is placed on holding down wages to curb inflation than to holding down prices. But rising prices are the excuse which labor uses in demanding higher wages.

Some of the administration proposals might even increase consumer costs. Increased gasoline taxes to help pay for the highway construction program, increased aviation fuel taxes and further increases in postal rates will nudge up living costs. And they will be resisted in Congress and out because of unpopularity.

employment insurance coverage to firms with fewer than four employees would add to the 44 million workers now covered. But it will still leave about 22 million workers without coverage.

The administration is not interested in setting federal minimum unemployment insurance standards of half pay for 26 weeks. This is being left to the states. Most of the states now below this standard don't want to raise rates.

In summary, consumers and wage earners seem to be left on the short end of this program, although it is presented as something to maintain price stability.

Economic advisers admit that the proposal to amend the employment act of 1946 to make "price stability" an explicit goal of federal policy won't do much by itself.

The action program which is proposed to carry this out is to appoint a couple more committees. One would be a cabinet committee on price stability and economic growth. Made up of secretaries of commerce, labor, etc., it would set top policy.

It will probably be headed by Raymond J. Saulnier, now chairman of the Council on Economic Advisers. Its members would be assistant secretaries of principal government departments.

Its principal activity will be to investigate government costs which contribute to inflation. The big ones would be defense appropriations and farm price support payments.

These are two areas in which congressional majorities may be more interested in increased rather than decreased spending.

A further field of inquiry for the Saulnier committee would be the effect on prices by actions of federal regulatory agencies like Civil Aeronautics Administration and Federal Power Commission since they are supposed to protect the public.

Many of the actions before these agencies have as their objective the raising of rates, not their decrease. So this effort will also run into opposition.

By HAL COCHRAN

When a girl's face is her fortune she shouldn't let late hours make it overdrawn.

Few people have much luck working with anything they don't enjoy.

Judging from those we've had this year, don't eat chestnuts in the dark.

SINCE THE administration already has an advisory board on economic growth and stability, made up of undersecretaries, the additional committee should add to the confusion.

The other new group would be a committee on government activities affecting prices and costs.

Whitney Bolton Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — It is a pretty hack-edged truism that into each life some rain must fall and to that you can add, without being sued for it, that it never rains but it pours.

Now I have an extension of these less than profound philosophical celebrations: there is no such thing as one stripper. There must be millions of them. A stripper, as anyone worth talking to knows, is a girl who makes a living walking out onto a stage and removing her attire, garment by garment with, hopefully, provocative gestures and cutting looks.

THE NEXT to the prettiest girl in New York is Temple Texas and Temple Texas telephoned me and said: "We are auditioning strippers for 'Gypsy' at the Imperial at 2 o'clock. Want a look?"

There were no wild horses immediately at hand but if there had been they'd have had a rough fustle holding me. At five minutes of two, with no intention of missing anything, I fought my way into the Imperial through a shoal of similarly casual men and we found seats.

THEY FOUND seals. I found a special seal next to the third prettiest girl in New York and by all measurements the smartest: Ruth Mitchell, girl stage manager.

Miss Mitchell said she did not have accurate figures (no pun), but was under the impression that there must be 519 strippers backstage, each one eager to prove that she could outstrip anyone in sight.

An agent for three of these lush huskers came by and said to Miss Mitchell: "It is chaos backstage. Sheer chaos." Miss Mitchell is the executive type. She gave him a cold glance and said: "What do you propose I do about it?" This, in Broadway code, meant: "Look, huh, I didn't ask you to come here or bring your strippers and I'm against agents at auditions, so get on your way." He got.

THEN, WITH less than a flourish of trumpets, a lean, former actor named Lo Hardin, from Texas, began bringing the strippers out, one by one, and after three ladies had done their entire routines taking 14 minutes each, Miss Mitchell laid down a rule: all she wanted was to hear a girl belt one song and do a strip-walk. That's all. Some of the strippers were crestfallen, a difficult feat for a stripper.

AMONG THE husked young women were the Misses Carrie Abbott, Flash Farrell, The Sizzling Comet, Temple Storm and Jody Victors. There were many more, but these were names with jumpiness and torso to match. And, as the sun sinks in the golden West and we wind our way homeward, let me lead you gently to a discovery: after three strippers in a row, things begin to pall a mile.

After seven, you have had it, uncle. It's like working in a candy factory. You gorge yourself the first day there and can't stand the stuff thereafter.

One by one they came out in various types of break-away clothes, peeled down to just about as peeled as you can get, gyrated assorted areas of their anatomies, proved that they could walk flamboyantly and belted songs to show that although equipped generously by Nature they also could sing without sounding like discarded sandpaper in a high wind.

One lady uttered a musical plaint to the effect that if you ever get to Sheboygan tell the folks you saw her but not where you saw her. Another had a miniature couch in lemon-yellow satin and on this midget platform performed feats of contortion beyond imagining. Another willow, about 6' 2" in height and looking for all the world like a Sarah Lawrence alumna, came but demure and well-bred and suddenly exploded into action. Now, boys, I mean action.

"GYPSY" inside a few weeks will be a show starring Ethel Merman and concerning itself with the early life of that encyclopedia of knowledge and intelligence, Miss Gypsy Rose Lee, for some years a revered friend of this reporter and the only stripper who set theatre afire by having sense enough not really to strip — just implying it.

Obviously, you could not do a musical show about Gyp without strippers. As the tobacco ad says, you can't have one without the other. David Merrick, who produces shows the way most people pare their nails, quietly and without flurry, is the head man. Arthur Laurens and Steve Sondheim, who did libretto and lyrics for "West Side Story," have similar occupations for "Gypsy."

I left after a surfeit and wended out into the cold January dusk convinced that after an afternoon of feminine skin it was a vast pleasure to know girls like Temple Texas and Ruth Mitchell, who keep their clothes on.

William S. White Los Angeles Break For Adlai

WASHINGTON — Adlai E. Stevenson is becoming the most active non-candidate in the field for the 1960 Democratic Presidential nomination. And his friends are now openly marshaling to push him into what he is not going to resist with any digging-in of heels, a third try for the big job. His polite disclaimers of further ambition are no longer treated seriously by anybody.

The decision of a party site-chasing group to hold the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles, subject to expected approval by the Democratic national convention, has several meanings.

For one, it is general recognition of the new political power of the Far West. For another, it represents a plan to turn the television beams from west to east, to saturate the larger eastern audience on a convention session schedule that will be keyed to fill the best listening hours in the East.

BUT THE decision for Los Angeles means most of all a break for the Stevenson people. To place in the country would be a more likely place for losing a steamrained Stevenson bandwagon. The high point of Mr. Stevenson's whole pre-convention campaign in 1956 was California. He did better in the California primaries than in any other. And the modified egghedism in the Democratic party in that state is more nearly Stevenson's kind of egghedism than is shown anywhere else. In a word, the California Democrats really "like Adlai," and he likes them.

It is easy to overstate the value and force of psychological factors in political conventions. Fortune still is nearly always on the side of those with the biggest battalions. Still, psychology can never be discounted. And no candidacy has greater need to master the psychological considerations than does Stevenson's.

HIS BIGGEST handicap, and it is severe, is that twice he has had the nomination and twice he has lost the election. Rivals already are trying to press home a comparison with William Jennings Bryan. They are recalling that Bryan had three nominations — and lost three times in the finals.

Too, they are subtly spreading the notion that there is yet another Bryan-Stevenson parallel: that both were superb in speech but not so able in action.

To counter this sort of thing there could be for Stevenson no better convention state than California. The California Democrats are riding higher than anywhere in the nation, because of their great victories of last fall.

THEY CAN easily be presented as forming the most powerful and most up-to-date single segment of the party. California is now tied with Pennsylvania with 32 electoral votes each) as the second biggest and most critical political state in the country. (New York, of course, has 45 electoral votes — but also a Republican governor.)

The Stevenson men in California will not fail to underline all this. And they will not fail to point out that if they are ready to take another chance on Stevenson, as the new and bustling successful men of the party that they are, then others should not hesitate.

That state knows how to put on a real show. In and out of Hollywood. And such a show certainly will be put on for Stevenson by his devoted admirers there.

News Quotes

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's main impression after his 16-day tour of the United States: "Everybody over there is tired of the cold war except the (State) Department which concerns itself with the waging of cold war."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Clinton P. We cannot help think that weather modification... is coming within our grasp."

DES MOINES, Iowa — GOP Congressional Campaign Committee Chairman Richard M. Hal Boyle Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

The one thing the rest of the world feels surest of about the average American is this: That material success is his god.

And the rest of the world couldn't be wrong.

Great material success is admired rather than worshipped by the average American — just as he admires achievement in any form, whether it be in the art of home run knocking or hula hooping.

He even has a sneaking admiration for a successful bank robber — so long as the fellow doesn't spill blood.

But material success isn't the major goal of the average American. It is only one of his major daydreams. But he doesn't want it bad enough to make his dream come true.

TAKE YOURSELF, as an average American. Why aren't you a success?

You probably can't, with honesty, put the blame on fate, your boss or your wife. You can't even blame it on the fact you were born dumb and never outgrew it.

The chances are you aren't a big success simply because it isn't worthwhile to you. There simply are other things more important to you.

In my work as a reporter I have interviewed perhaps 2,000 "successful" people over the last quarter century. Asked the reason for their success, about 99 out of 100 gave the same answer: "Hard work."

The hundredth person would credit it to "getting the breaks," or admit, off the cuff, he inherited success or married into it.

Many successful people I have met have lacked the charm, personality and even the talent I have found among other men so spectacularly unsuccessful they couldn't buy their way into the city dump. They aren't nearly as much fun to be with.

One difference between the successful man and the average man is obvious. The average man has credit. The successful man has credit plus something else — it is called money.

BUT THERE ARE other differences. The big one lies in how they use their energy. The successful man controls his energy and directs it to a single aim — the winning of success. Everything else is secondary. The average man isn't that single-minded.

Does the successful man himself regret the price he had to pay to get where he is? Often he does — in a very wishful human way. But there is a limit to his regret.

The average man sometimes likes to boast he wouldn't trade places with the most successful man he ever knew. The successful man returns the compliment. He isn't interested in changing places either.

No matter how stern the cost of success, the last thing any successful man I ever met was willing to give up was — success.

George Dixon Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan proved such a drawing card that it's too bad we can't keep him around as a permanent attraction. If we could only make a steady display of him drinking American-made vodka with Former New York Gov. Averell Harriman we wouldn't need any temperance lecturers.

There is no sure way of assessing whether his tour of this country did us any good, but the chances are it didn't do much harm. He couldn't have done any spying of consequence because a spy has to listen. It is almost impossible to soak up the secret plans while talking out of all seven corners of the mouth.

Mikoyan suggested to a gathering of capitalists that American businessmen go over the head of the U. S. Government and trade with Russia. He didn't specify what we should trade, but how about rocket experts?

Well, it was interesting to have the No. 2 man of the U.S.S.R. here, rubbing elbows with us. Possibly we should now count elbows, to see if any are missing.

THEY'RE SAYING that Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson is ineligible for the Presidency because of the last amendment to the Constitution, which specifies that no man may serve more than two terms as the Nation's Chief Executive.

There are people here in Washington, especially on Capitol Hill, who will tell you the persuasive Texan is running everything. I would think twice before I said a thing like that. Okay—I've thought twice. He's running everything.

I still can't figure how he does it, because the generally accepted theory that he does it with charm doesn't seem sufficient. Too many of the Senators are charm-proof. They are inclined to suspect that anyone beaming rays of charm at them is either an emissary of the oil and gas lobby or wants to be an assistant postmaster.

It takes Senator Johnson less than 30 kilowatt hours to make a new Senator light up. Why. Gruening and Bartlett, from Alaska, had hardly finished tossing for which would have the title of "Senior Senator" before Johnson had them in the same corner with himself and the two Senators from Mississippi, Eastland and Stennis, who had fought hardest to keep Alaska out of statehood.

I DISCUSSED the Johnson technique with Clair Engle, the new Democratic Senator from California. Senator Engle is an old veteran of the House and learned something about Texas-brand persuasion from Sam Rayburn. He said, in the rustic way these city boys affect: "I don't know what Lyndon Johnson's got, but you sure got to brace yourself against it."

"Then you're trying to buck him?" I suggested.

"I am not. Lyndon is a valuable piece of property. He sure holds a rough herd of mules together."

"Then," I said, borrowing his homespun style, "he's got you in his mule shed?"

"I ain't admitting that, either," returned Senator Engle, firmly. "All I will admit right now is that I backed him on his first motion before the 86th Congress."

"What was that?"

"A motion to recess. I reasoned with myself: 'If the Majority Leader can't adjourn, who can?'"

'Farm Hand' Charged With Embezzling

Former Cashier At Kansas Bank Held In $157,000 Shortage

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (UPI)—Neighbors and townspeople today told how farm hand Jeff Williams could afford a new television set, expensive tweed clothes and long drives in the country on his $150 a month salary.

Williams has been sought by authorities ever since he abandoned his cashier's job at the Hoyt, Kan., State Bank seven months ago. Shortly after he left, the bank closed its doors with a $157,000 shortage.

The cashier-turned-farmer surrendered voluntarily to Kansas authorities Thursday and was held on an embezzlement charge. He was last seen here Tuesday when he returned from a visit to town accompanied by two men. He introduced the younger man as his son.

"I've come to take dad home," the younger man said and the three left almost immediately.

Police learned that Williams had applied under his own name for a job at the Rice County Employment Office and was sent to the farm of Tom Moore, Castle Rock, to do chores and help out.

Mrs. Moore said Williams showed up in late June and proved himself a hard worker. She said he had "nice hands," obvious education, and fine manners. An aura of mystery had surrounded Williams' reappearance in Kansas City Thursday. Williams did not say where he had been since he disappeared last June 30, but police soon filled in the facts.

Authorities still do not know, however, what became of the (Continued on Page 14)

State's '59 Road Building Will Take $83,000,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Roads Commission says it will spend more than $83 million dollars for construction during 1959. Chairman Robert O. Bonnell said more than half of the money would come under terms of the State's 15-year highway program. The remainder would be allotted by the federal government under its interstate program.

The chairman said more than $42 million dollars would be available under the State program and more than 41 million dollars in federal money. He did not enumerate the projects for 1959.

In other action yesterday, the commission awarded two contracts for road construction costing more than 1½ million dollars. Burkholder and Burkholder of Washington received a $1,489,823 contract to construct a 7.35 mile section of Maryland 67 from just south of Gapland to Boonesboro, in Washington County. The highest of six bids was $1,624,603.

A contract to build a three-span steel bridge over Morgan Run on relocated Maryland 97 near Westminster went to Wolfe Brothers Construction Co. of Meyersville. The firm bid $80,627, the lowest of 11 bidders.

Broken Air Compressor Closes Kelly

Local Plant May Resume Operations On Third Shift

A broken air compressor has halted operations at the Cumberland plant of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Company officials said today it is hoped the third shift will be called back to work at 11 p. m. if repairs are successful.

The motor driving the compressor failed last evening, and as nearly all manufacturing operations of the plant depend on compressed air, production came to a standstill on the second shift.

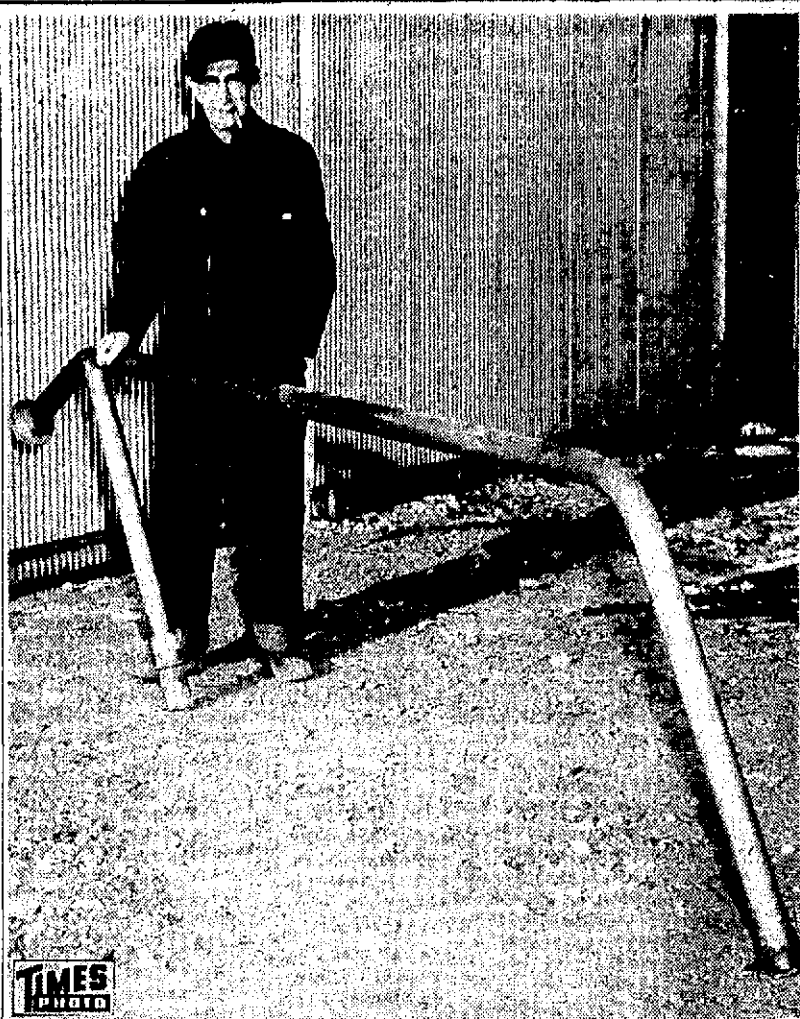

There was no work on the third shift last night or on the 7 a. m., 3 p. m., and 3 p. m.-11 p. m. shifts today.

All available mechanics have been placed to work on repairing the huge motor and it is expected that it will be ready for testing about 7 p. m. today.

The spokesman said it will take at least 15 minutes after the electricity is turned into the motor before the company will know if the compressor will operate satisfactorily and the repairs hold up.

Approximately 1,600 hourly paid production workers have been affected by the breakdown.

Kelly officials are urging employees to listen to radio dispatches on the situation this evening.

CONTROVERSIAL RAILING — This is the brass-covered steel tubing which formerly was on the steps of the Allegany County Court House. Removed when new doors and railings were installed in 1957, it has been in the George Construction Company warehouse awaiting orders from the Board of Allegany County Commissioners as to its disposal. At Tuesday's meeting of the board, the question was raised as to its whereabouts. Above, holding the controversial item, is Jesse B. George, father of Charles E. and William M. George, of the George firm. The company will be represented at the next county board meeting.

County Board Declines Use Of Road Fund

A report on a meeting of county officials with the State Roads Commission administration yesterday in Baltimore was given at today's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, told the board that there is $97,000 available in funds for matching federal aid roads projects.

The county can also take part in the state road bond construction program, Skelly said.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason and Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, who also attended the meeting with Skelly, said they had discussed the whole program with SRC officials.

It was decided today that the county would not take part in either plan. Skelly said no projects have been planned for the federal aid program. He said the road projects under this plan provide for specifications which are too high for the type of roads which would be involved.

The state bond program for road construction was last used by the county a number of years ago. The money borrowed under this program has to be repaid in 15 years with interest.

All three commissioners felt that no projects should be undertaken at this time. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board, was instructed to notify the State Roads Commission that the county is not interested in the two road plans.

Find Area Man Dead In Woods

A Hyndman area man was found hanged this morning in a wooded area between Corrigansville and Ellerslie and authorities said the death was a suicide.

Clarence Wesley Clites, 55, of RD 1, Hyndman, was found hanging from a tree about 50 yards off State Route 35 after a search was instituted for him early today.

Trapper Charles Snow, who investigated the incident with Trooper Joseph Stakem, said Clites had been missing since he left for work yesterday at 6 a. m. at the Knobmount yards of the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Residents of the area told state police that Clites' car had been parked off Route 35 since early yesterday. A search of the area began after the ownership of the car was made this morning.

His wife informed authorities that Clites had been in ill health and despondent for several months after being informed that he would have to undergo surgery.

The body has been taken to the Ziegler Funeral Home, Hyndman.

State's Attorney, Police Meet Set

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said today he and other Police Department officials had been invited to attend a meeting Monday at 2 p. m. with State's Attorney James S. Getty to discuss certain matters pertaining to liaison between the two agencies.

The invitation included Chief of Police Emmett Flynn and Fleming said Lt. James E. Van would also attend.

Highway Park Bill Placed Before House

Measure Supported By Two Departments Of State Government

A bill that would provide for a series of roadside parks and recreational areas along Route 40, between Hancock and the Pennsylvania line was introduced today in the House of Delegates.

The measure, sponsored by Del. William Walsh of this county, would authorize the State Roads Commission to acquire ten tracts of land not more than 20 acres in area along the scenic and historic road.

The SRC would then be given the authority to turn over the tracts to the State Department of Forests and Parks for development.

(Both these two state departments have indicated previously their full cooperation in the event the bill is passed in the General Assembly.)

The legislation allows the State Department of Forests and Parks to use any of the extensive holdings of land it has in Western Maryland for these purposes.

It was pointed out in the bill today that Route 40 from Hancock to the Pennsylvania line is ripe in U. S. traditions, having been the route used by George Washington in 1753 on his Fort LeBoeuf mission, by General Braddock in 1755, and played a major role in the development of the nation. It was the first road to receive federal funds for maintenance.

The improvement of the highway by these parks and recreational areas would be a benefit of all Marylanders and to tourists, the bill said.

SRC figures indicate that a number of motorists now bypass the section of Route 40 involved and take the Pennsylvania Turnpike from Hancock.

Statistics also show, the measure pointed out, that a greater number will bypass it when the federal interstate highway system is completed. This segment of Route 40 is not included in the system.

Through this diversion of traffic, the state loses gasoline tax money which the SRC spends for highway improvements and maintenance.

The bill also declares that this will work a hardship on the economy and welfare of the Western Maryland counties involved.

If prompt and firm action is taken to enhance the scenic and historic SRC will receive increased gasoline tax revenues, areas of Western Maryland traversed by the highway will receive economic benefits, and the major means of accomplishing this, will be the passage of this bill, Walsh's measure states.

The bill also authorizes the State Roads Commission to build and maintain access roads to the parks and recreational areas.

Ice Skating Set Tonight

Gephart school playground ice skating area is in excellent shape, it was reported today, and the Recreation Department released a schedule for the next three days.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said the rink will be open today from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. Tomorrow, skating will be offered from 10 a. m. to noon and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. Sunday, the rink will be open from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Harold Waingold will act as instructor for beginners, Mrs. Hogan said.

Last night, Lauren Lapp scraped and prepared the area and the surface was reported in good shape this morning. The Playground Association, Mrs. Lapp president, will sell refreshments. Mrs. Lapp will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. George Zuker.

Tawes Heads Guest List At Demo Victory Dinner

Gov. J. Millard Tawes will head the list of guests at the Democratic victory dinner tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at Clarysville Inn on U.S. Route 40.

Julius E. Schindler, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said a capacity crowd of 500 persons will attend.

Other guests will be Comptroller and Mrs. Louis L. Goldstein, Attorney General and Mrs. C. Ferdinand Sybert, Rep. and Mrs. John R. Foley, Delegate and Mrs. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., Delegate and Mrs. William Walsh, County Commissioner and Mrs. John Tucker Mason, County Commissioner and Mrs. John J. Rowan, area along the scenic and historic road.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Boch, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brodie, Mr. and Mrs. Graydon S. Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Flanagan and Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Loughrie. These men were Democratic candidates in the general election last November 4 which saw the party break the Republican stranglehold on county offices as well as elected a governor and Congressman in the Sixth District.

Schindler will welcome the guests and Thomas B. Finan, secretary of state and chairman of the Allegany County Democratic Committee, will be toastmaster.

Gov. Tawes will be introduced by William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland. Talks will also be given by Comptroller Goldstein, Attorney General Sybert and Rep. Foley.

Rev. H. Mainsell Richardson, pastor of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will ask the invocation and the benediction will be given by Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

County Board Given Report By Treasurer

The county treasurer's quarterly report for the period ending December 31, 1958 was submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today by Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, and James W. Bishop, treasurer.

A balance in county banks as of December 31 was $1,134,216.60 with receipts of $366,087.83 during the same period. The bank balance for September 30, 1958 was $2,065,995.32. Disbursements for the period ending December 31 amounted to $197,639.47.

There was $276,027.31 in outstanding taxes as of December 31 with $150,272.92 being for 1958 taxes in District No. 1. Taxes still unpaid from 1957 total $22,033.85. Unpaid taxes for District No. 2 in 1958 are $25,490.23 and $8,726.68 for 1957. District No. 3 taxes outstanding for 1958 are $56,288.56 and $6,387.32 for 1957. The balance is for special taxing areas.

Receipts included $29,937.68 from state income taxes, $85,158.91 for motor vehicle and gasoline taxes, $14,249.77 for distilled spirits taxes, $10,369.22 from patients at the County Infirmary.

Other expenditures were $300,000 to the Board of Education for school construction, costs of the legislative and executive departments totaled $4,475.64, judicial, $26,878.28; elections, $18,151.93; finance, $21,735.02; law, $1,200.15; buildings, $11,717.34; highways, $96,274.16; conservation of health, $21,486.93; hospitals, $68,147.90; public welfare, $113,463.02; jails and training schools, $10,689.33; schools, $381,085.37 and public service, $14,784.48.

Meeting Time Moved Up For LaVale Firemen

Due to the nature of the next meeting of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, it will start at 7 p. m. Tuesday instead of 8 p. m. as usual.

Thomas L. Smith, president, urged all members to be prompt because of the topic to be acted upon.

Two Senators Cited

This year's total would be much smaller but for the industriousness of Sens. Nock (D-Wiconia) and Rasin (D-Kent) in cleaning dead wood from the law books of their counties. Between them they have introduced 54 of the 128 bills which had been received by the Senate going into today's session.

Senate President Della cited their efforts in urging other members to get to work on their local legislation.

The House, which normally outstrips the Senate in bill introduction, had received only 88 bills by today but it hadn't had the quantity of "house cleaners" sponsored in the Senate.

The Department of Legislative Reference, which does most of the bill drafting, sent around a worried notice to members this week asking them not to wait until the last minute. Two years ago its personnel had to work virtually around the clock to get 351 bills ready for introduction in the last two days before the deadline.

Governor Influence

The slow movement on local bills wasn't understood, but it was felt that the trickle of statewide legislation was at least partially influenced by the fact that a new governor is in office and is of the same party as the majority of the Legislature.

Some members are frankly waiting to find out his legislative plans before striking out on their own. Although the legislative mill was grinding slowly, it was kept (Continued on Page 18)

Animal Unit Successful In Appeal

Action To Provide Dogs For Research Work Rescinded

A motion passed at Tuesday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners providing that stray dogs be given to Maryland Society for Medical Research was withdrawn today on motion of Commissioner John Tucker Mason.

The action followed appearance of a group of representatives of the Animal Welfare Society of Allegany County to protest the proposal.

It was also decided to have a meeting in the near future with representatives of the society, and the research group to discuss the matter fully.

Program Jeopardized

Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, spokesman for the society, said the county's dog law program is jeopardized by the proposal to furnish the dogs for medical research. She pointed out that the group is not against medical research, but fears that the county dog program would be wrecked by participation.

She said that since the publication of the board's proposal she and other members of the society have received hundreds of calls protesting the plan.

The program has been working very well in the county and the confidence of the public in it would be harmed if the research group were given dogs for their work, Mrs. Cobey said. She also said that the society likes the manner in which Merwin Hast, one of the two county dog wardens, has handled the program in the Cumberland area.

No longer are packs of wild dogs straying about the county killing game and domestic animals and hundreds of dogs have been placed in homes as a result of the dog wardens' efforts, Mrs. Cobey explained.

Should Use Own Dogs

As far as providing dogs for research in Baltimore hospitals, the society representatives felt the animals should be obtained in that area and not in Allegany County.

It was also stated that only a few dogs would be available as they must be at least 40 pounds in weight and for the number which this county could provide the dog program would be harmed in a far greater proportion than good which would result.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, read the letter from the research group and the names of the officers. Included was Dr. Alfred Blalock, who originated the heart surgery for "blue babies" at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

It was also brought out that the society had intended to start an educational program among school children on proper treatment of dogs and any participation in the research proposal would undermine this plan.

F. Allan Weatherholt, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, said he had visited Johns Hopkins Hospital and has seen some of the research work underway. He offered to attend the meeting of the various groups and give what information he can on the matter.

Cold To Keep Grip On Area

The present cold wave is expected to continue through Sunday, the Weather Bureau indicated today.

Temperatures dropped to an official low of 10 degrees above at Oakland last night, according to R. E. Weber, official observer, and this was Western Maryland's coldest. It was 13 above at the State Police barracks in LaVale while R. E. Golden, official observer for Cumberland, said the low overnight was 17.

The State Roads Commission reported no new snow in the district and G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said there were only a few icy spots in Garrett County.

Tonight is to be fair and cold with a low between 8 and 14 degrees above zero. Saturday will be mostly sunny with a high of 28-34. Considerable cloudiness is forecast Sunday with little change in temperature.

Garrett County is expected to have zero to 8 above readings tonight.

The Western Maryland Railway reported Deal, Pa., Thomas and Elkins, W. Va., all with 10 above readings while it was 16 above at Conneltsville.

Dentist Named To British Group

Dr. William T. Fridinger, 756 Cleveland Avenue, has been notified of his election to membership in the Royal Society of Health, a British organization of dentists which was founded in 1876.

Dr. Fridinger said the English organization is comparable to the American College to Dentists in this country.

Founded to "promote the health of the people," Her Majesty, the queen of England, serves as patron of the organization.

Housing Unit Opening Bids On Demolition

The Housing Authority of Cumberland will open bids this afternoon on the demolition of old structures in the Oldtown Road-Lamont Street area which will be the site of the city's third low-rent housing project.

The demolition issue had been offered for bids once before but only one was received. The Authority, under federal Public Housing Authority rules, was forced to reject the bid. The PHA requires that at least two firms bid on such projects.

The Mayor and Council, principally Mayor J. Edwin Keech, has been pushing demolition of the buildings which have been criticized as health hazards, hazards to life and an "eyesore."

Keech recently made a personal visit to Washington to discuss the situation with the PHA and to speed up the demolition process. As a result, the first request for bids was issued.

It has been estimated that the area can be cleared in about 30 days after the bid is accepted and construction on the new housing project can be started in the spring.

It was unofficially reported that a number of firms had submitted bids on the demolition of the structures today.

Wind Levels Field Fence

High winds which hit the city Wednesday night knocked down approximately 200 feet of the solid tin fence around Penn Avenue baseball field, Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason reported today.

Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Mason said the fence will be salvageable but all lumber-including posts and supports—must be replaced.

One large section of the fence was carried approximately 30 feet and narrowly missed a nearby dwelling.

Chrysler Sues Glass Company

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Chrysler Corp., which had closed several operations last week because of lack of glass for new models, has filed suits in Allegheny and Armstrong counties against the strike-bound Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. to recover tools.

A suit filed in Allegheny County Common Pleas court Thursday seeks recovery of tools used in making windshields from Pittsburgh Plate's Crelighton plant. The glass firm has been closed by a strike since last October.

A similar suit was filed in Armstrong County Court in Kittanning to recover other tools in the glass firm's Ford City plant.

Attorney John G. Wayman, who filed the actions, posted bond of $97,550 which represents approximately double the value of the tools.

Ford Motor Co., another Pittsburgh Plate customer, obtained an injunction in Armstrong County court two months ago to recover patterns at the Ford City plant. The court issued the order after strikers had refused to permit a Ford train from entering the plant.

"Mystery" Railing Found In Contractor's Warehouse

The "mystery" of the "brass" railing from the Court House steps was cleared up today.

Charles E. George, of the George Construction Company, said the hand railing, which is not brass, but brass-coated steel tubing, was located in the company's warehouse on Mt. Savage Road. He added, the firm has never received payment for its original installation.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, reported on the check he had made as to the railing's whereabouts.

He said he had been asked by County Attorney Leslie J. Clark to find the railing which was removed in March, 1957, when new doors and new railings were placed on the Court House steps.

It was mentioned at the time that the rail had cost $1,100 and had been sold for scrap for about 50 cents.

Lilya said in his report that Charles E. George had informed him that it had been sold for salvage.

However, since Tuesday, the company located the railing at the warehouse and a check of the firm's records indicate that the bill for the job of installing it in 1954 had never been paid by the county commissioners.

George said this was due to no fault of the county commissioners, but through a bookkeeping oversight on the part of his staff.

The original contract let on February 24, 1954, by the county commissioners at that time, was for $485.

George stated that a certified public accountant had located in the company's records invoices for material and labor, but there was no record of any payment for the job.

James Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, also could find no payment for the work in the county's books, George declared.

The brass rail in the center of the steps was removed, in March 1957 by the George firm and re-

The second intra-city basketball battle, the windup to the first half in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League and the clash between Romney and Keyser in the Potomac Valley Conference, highlight tonight's high school card.

Allegany will invade Fort Hill in the city scrap as the quintets collide for the 48th time. The contest is also a WMIL, County Class A and Cumberland Valley Athletic League tilt.

The Hilltoppers, with a 7-3 record and the lead in the city race by virtue of a 39-42 victory over LaSalle, also carry a 3-1 CVAL mark into the contest. The Red Raiders trail pacing North Hagerstown (5-0) in the CVAL with a 3-1 log while being tied with Allegany in the County setup as both have recorded triumphs over Beall of Frostburg.

The Campers, possessing a 5-4 mark for the season, are tied with the Hilltoppers for second place in the WMIL along with Mt. Savage as the three quintets have posted 2-2 marks. Alco is 2-2 in the CVAL and deadlocked with Martinsburg for third place.

Sweep Series In '58
The Campers have a big edge in the series which started in 1937, with 32 triumphs and only 15 setbacks. The Red Raiders, who shared city honors with LaSalle last winter, swept the pair of meetings with Allegany in 1958, winning by counts of 56-45 and 58-51.

LaSalle is also slated for court duty tonight, the Explorers taking on Northern of Accident at SS. Peter and Paul. The North Centre Streeters have a chance of reaching the 500 mark by knocking off the Highlanders. LaSalle, after a bad start, has bounced back to take its last two starts and carries a 6-7 mark into the fray. Northern has won seven and lost three.

Valley's Black Knights, pacing the WMIL with a 4-0 record, should for its 12th straight in their undefeated skein by tangling with Bruce at Westernport. This one also has a bearing on the County Class B setup with the Detmold Dandies, champs the past four seasons, already having a victory over Mt. Savage in the division.

The Bulldogs are 3-7 for the campaign while showing a 1-3 WMIL record, including a 68-59 loss to Mt. Savage in the County "B" race.

Beall will invade Mt. Savage in the other closing game of the WMIL's first-half race. The Mounties are 3-6 overall and 1-3 in the league while the Indians have lost only twice in 10 tries with both setbacks being in the league as Fort Hill and Valley subdued the charges of coach John Thomas.

Keyser and Romney, two of the leading contenders for the PVC title, meet in their return clash at Romney with the Pioneers looking for a sweep of the PVC. The Pioneers, with a 7-1 CVAL slate, had their unbeaten record broken at nine games Tuesday when Fort Ashby spilled the charges of coach Clyde Green, 68-67.

The Golden Tornado, victor in eight of 11 starts, has taken six of seven conference tests and will be shooting to stay in the title picture. Keyser was trimmed, 76-69, by Romney in their series opener.

Franklin Seeks 13th
Four other PVC attractions are being offered to district fans with the all-winning Franklin Panthers gunning for their 13th straight and seventh in the loop by being host to Wardensville. The game is the first between the two quintets with the Warriors having a 4-3 PVC record and 6-3 log for the winter.

Other tilts will have West Virginia Deaf at Ridgeley, Petersburg invading Moorefield and Paw being host to Berkeley Springs. The Blackhawks are on the wings of a four-game win binge while the Lions have yet to post a league victory in seven tries.

Six independent clashes fill out the rest of the card with Terra Alta at Southern, Elk Garden being invaded by Mountaineer High, winless Oldtown facing Fort Ashby JVs at home, Meyersdale entertaining Hyndman, Capon Bridge taking on Tom's Brook of Virginia and Frederick being host to St. John's.

Polomac State takes its 6-9 record up against Altoona (Pa.) Center in the Pennsy city with the Catamounts seeking revenge for a 91-83 licking earlier in the season.

Mike Hawthorn Killed In Crash
LONDON (AP) — World Auto Racing Champion Mike Hawthorn was killed in the kind of car crash he said should never happen to a good driver.

The hard-locked wheels of his dark green Jaguar skidded along a quiet, seemingly harmless English road, the car hurtled into a truck, careened off into a tree. The car was wrecked. Hawthorn was killed outright.

Blaik Reveals 'Lonely End's' Signal Method

NEW YORK (AP) — Col. Earl (Red) Blaik, most prolific and successful in Army's line of football coaches, at last has made public the secret of the "lonely end."

Blaik broke a four month silence on the method devised to give Earl Bill Carpenter — who never went near an offensive huddle — the "lonely end" play which was honored by the Touchdown Club Thursday night.

"You noticed that Caldwell (quarterback Joe Caldwell) would stand facing the huddle sometimes with his left foot forward a bit," Blaik said.

"Well, that meant a run. If the right foot was forward, there was going to be a pass. If his feet were together there would also be a run."

"Now Carpenter had to take various cuts with each play and he would return the foot signal with a signal of his own to tell Caldwell which way he would go. The cut would be the same for a running or a pass play. His signal would be some motion, such as touching his helmet, tugging at his pants, or the like."

"Now wasn't that simple?" he asked as everyone looked at each other wondering whether it was as simple as Blaik described.

But Blaik steadfastly held to another cherished secret, that of his successor at West Point when his resignation becomes effective Feb. 15. Blaik announced his retirement as Army football coach last week after 17 years at the Point.

Blaik received the Touchdown Club award for his 25 years as a head coach, eight of which were spent at Dartmouth before he took over at Army in 1941.

Old Germans, held to a 15-15 tie in the first quarter, broke loose in the second period and then coasted to an 89-68 victory over Knights of Columbus last night on the Fort Hill court to win the first-half title in the City Basketball League.

The triumph was the ninth for the unbeaten Brewers who went ahead in the second period on a pair of foul tosses by Don Moran and Glen Smith's field goal. Smith led the winners with 26 points while Donnie Madden dumped in 21 for the losers.

Loyal Order of Moose took its seventh win in nine starts in the other half of the doubleheader by nipping Chase's Transportation, 72-69.

Goals by John Alderton and Don Lilya and a foul toss by Fritz Showers provided the winning margin for the Moose after Chaney's had taken a 68-67 lead. Showers was high scorer for the game with 26 points while Ken Johnson shoved in 22 markers. Keith Detrick had 19 for the losers.

Collegians Lead In Thunderbird

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Collegians, once a rarity in the field of professional golf, were in the lead as the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird invitational tournament got under way today.

Paul Harney, Holy Cross, and Jim Ferree, North Carolina, teed off with a one-stroke lead over the field after five-under-par 66's Thursday.

In one of the most closely-bunched fields in PGA history, eight more men were deadlocked only one stroke off the pace at 67. They included six more college men: Arnold Palmer, Wake Forest; Bob Rosburg, Stanford; Billy Casper, Notre Dame; Wes Ellis, Texas; Billy Maxwell, North Texas State, and Bob Goalby, Illinois. And just to prove that it doesn't take a college education to play golf, Doug Ford and Marty Furgol, who didn't go to college, also had 67s.

McDougald, Sievers, Jensen Balking At Contract Offers

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Gil McDougald, Roy Sievers and Jackie Jensen all were in the same boat today, threatening to rest on their oars indefinitely until they get more money.

McDougald thus joined a growing list of Yankee ball players who are balking at a cut. The group includes Mickey Vernon, Mantle, Whitey Ford, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron.

"This is a knock to every ball player—almost an insult," said the usually mild-mannered McDougald, who slumped to 250 last season.

"It's a matter of pride," he added. "We did win the world championship last year and I think we deserve at least a token raise, certainly not a cut."

McDougald, who received an estimated $35,000 last season, said he had been asked to take a cut of more than $4,000. He added that everyone else he had talked with on the club also had been offered a reduction.

"I don't want to get mad," he said. "The Yankees are a wonderful organization. But I don't know any reason for these pay cuts. It's not right."

Right or not, the only Yankee players known to have been offered a raise are pitchers Bob Turley and Ryne Duren and catcher-outfielder Elston Howard. None of those are reported signed, however, so perhaps even they aren't exactly turning cart-wheels.

Sievers, the slugging Washington outfielder who slammed 38 homers, drove in 108 runs and batted .295 last season, said in St. Louis he already had sent back one unsigned contract to the club.

He received $36,000 last year—highest salary ever paid a Washington player—and was offered $1,000 more for this year.

"I want more money," Sievers said, "and I intend to sit tight until I get $40,000."

Roy may have to do quite a bit of sitting. He sent back four contracts last year before he signed. Jensen, the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1958, declared he was dissatisfied with terms offered him by the Red Sox. Jensen was offered a raise but feels he's entitled to more.

The Red Sox are all set to sign Williams today for another $125,000 salary and if they could get Jensen, too, they would have the bulk of their offense in tow.

Little Luis Aparicio of the White Sox also is unhappy.

From Maracaibo, Venezuela, where he lives, Aparicio said this was the first time in three years he has returned a contract unsigned.

Elsewhere along the major league front, some of the other players were falling into line. Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, a 16-game winner last season, signed his contract with the San Francisco Giants, while Bill Bruton, who had balked earlier, became the seventh member of the Milwaukee Braves to agree to terms.

Cousy Likely To Miss Star Game Tonight

DETROIT (UPI)—Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, who has broken up more than one National Basketball Association All-Star game during his glamorous career, undoubtedly will be on the sidelines with a leg injury when the East pros meet the West tonight.

Although the announcement of Cousy's status was couched in confusion and a touch of controversy, it was plain that Coach Red Auerbach and owner Walter Brown of the Celtics had no intention of risking a prolonged injury by playing their brilliant back-court man tonight.

Two other East stars, Bill Russell of the Celtics and Ken Sears of the Knickerbockers, also were hobbled by injuries. The odds, which previously favored the East by 3½ points, were expected to drop to even-money by game time.

The second half of the All-Star game will be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company, starting at 10 p. m. e.s.t., the time customarily occupied by the Friday night boxing matches.

No Decision Made On Expanding League

DETROIT (AP) — The National Basketball Assn. kicked around the idea of expanding to 10 or 12 teams until the wee hours today and wound up just where it started — with a lot of ideas and no conclusions.

The owners who comprise the NBA's board of governors settled only routine matters.

President Maurice Podoloff said the possibilities of expansion will be discussed at a special meeting in late February when the owners will determine playoff dates.

A delegation from San Francisco formally applied for membership. Other groups from Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle on the West Coast, along with Dallas, Houston, Chicago and Pittsburgh, have expressed definite interest in joining the NBA.

Serling's Play Described As Honest

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK (UPI) — It is the custom of TV programmers to refer to the counterfeited portion of their product—the shoddytown of half-hour shows—as the meat and potatoes of the medium.
However, as I understand meat and potatoes—there is really only one regular meat and potatoes of the medium: the medium itself.
CBS-TV's Playhouse 90 stands alone right now. It sits on a lonely pinnacle, a jewel on a rubbish heap, a diamond capping a jinxing world where bawbles and scrimshaw are the common currency.
It is a show crafted by poets and hit or miss, it shoots light into the TV week. Thursday night it hit. It hit with Rod Serling's "The Velvet Alley," a Faustian piece which traced the career of a TV writer who traded himself, for fame, money and what passes for immortality nowadays. It was, to hammer it down more simply, a study of values.

Like most of Serling's recent efforts, "The Velvet Alley" had a nice feeling for talk and Serling kept that talk ping-ponging around the play's edges—frantic talk, chi chi talk, butter talk, shop talk, con man talk.
But more important, that talk was bounced against a piece of some substance. The play itself was honest. It posed its problem honestly and enmeshed in the stuff of its own logic, it ended honestly—without compromising its inwards. And except for a little sag around its middle, the piece generated fire and flash over almost all of its 90 minutes.
The cast, with the exception of Bonita Granville who gave an awkward performance, was on target — Art Carney, Katherine Bard, George Voskovec, Alexander Scourby and Micky Braddock among them. I liked particularly Jack Klugman in the role of a sweet agent and Leslie Nielsen,

'Playhouse 90' Vehicle Absorbing

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—"The Velvet Alley," by Rod Serling, provided an absorbing vehicle for the talents of Art Carney on Playhouse 90 CBS-TV Thursday night.
Carney brilliantly portrayed a hungry writer, Ernie Pandish, who became sated in the fleshpots of Hollywood after the extraordinary success of a single television drama.
As he rolled down "The Velvet Alley" in pursuit of money and nebulous success, Ernie bowled over his original sense of values, his wife, and his closest friend. He ended a heartless, confused man.
Katharine Bard, in the role of his wife, and Jack Klugman, as his friend, were excellent in the Herbert Brodtkin production directed by Franklin Schaffner.
There was eloquent social commentary in this drama on Playhouse 90 which is about the only TV drama series remaining where a writer can express a piece of his mind.
Serling was saying in effect that the way of life personified by Hollywood and television destroys good men. Dramatically, he over-stated his case. Personally, I've read and seen the idea expressed more compellingly before.

Too Many Charges Confuse Accused
CHICAGO (UPI)—Joseph Pancko, alleged professional burglar already under charges of falsifying his driver's license application, today explained why he missed a court date Wednesday for arraignment on a burglary charge.
"I just got confused with so many cases pending," he said.

William Walsh Named Young Man Of Year

Man's Claim For Benefits Ruled Valid

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has designated William Walsh, local attorney and member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly as Cumberland's young man of the year.

E. F. Mullan Jr., president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, said that Mr. Walsh's selection was announced at the Jaycees' annual "Bosses Night" dinner Wednesday night at the Cumberland Country Club.

L. Leslie Helmer, as first president of the Cumberland Jaycees and first recipient of the distinguished service award as this city's young man of the year 20 years ago, made the presentation.

It was accepted by William C. Walsh, father of the winner, because the recipient was required to be in Annapolis, where the House of Delegates is now in session.

Fred Anderson, magistrate of juvenile causes in Allegany County, served as toastmaster for the Jaycee function.

The distinguished service award is presented at most Jaycee "Bosses Night" dinners held at this time of the year to mark the founding of the first Jaycee chapter in St. Louis, Mo.

Walsh's contributions to the community were highlighted last November when he led the ticket in winning election to the House of Delegates, one of four Democrats in this county to win public office. It was the first Democratic success in this county since 1919.

He served in 1957 as a special assistant attorney-general during the 90-day session of the General Assembly. He has been president of the Allegany County Cancer Society since its inception in 1956, headed the first two Cancer drives, is president of the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and is president of the Young Democrats of Allegany County. He is a vice president of the United Fund, a member of the board of both the Cumberland Kiwanis Club and the Jaycees, and belongs to the Elks, Cumberland Country Club and the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Walsh is the sixth young man honored by the Jaycees in the past 20 years. Mr. Helmer was the first winner, for 1939. The following year James Kelly was the winner. There was no further award until 1947 when C. William Gilchrist was the recipient. The award was not given again until 1955 when Robert E. Barnard Jr. was honored. Woodward D. Peeler was the winner for both 1956 and 1957.

A committee of men above the maximum Jaycee age of 35 selects the recipient.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: An acquaintance of mine recently had a nose job and I am wondering if it would be proper for me to say anything about the operation or should I leave it go unnoticed. LINDA.

DEAR LINDA: People resort to plastic surgery because they hope it will make a noticeable improvement in their appearance. Avoid using expressions such as "nose job" or "bob job"—but do comment on how "lovely" she (or he) looks.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and I am not bragging when I say I have a very good reputation. I date on Friday and Saturday nights and Court upheld the commission's have to be in by 12:30 sharp, and I always am. Last Friday I had a date with a boy who carried a pint of whiskey in his glove where Davis worked. Mutual Insurance Co. Dayton's insurer. Davis claimed he suffered a ruptured disc in his back when the wind blew a door against him as he was carrying buckets of coal into the shop.

Dayton and the insurance company claimed the injury was not accidental within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act. But the high court disagreed. It said an employee's "non-willful negligence"—his lapse from care—does not keep an injury-producing occurrence from being an accident nor bar his right to competency.

Milton Gerson was attorney for Davis while William H. Geppert and Hugh A. McMullen were counsel for the repair shop.

In another opinion the appellate judges upheld an Anne Arundel County Circuit Court decree dismissing a suit by Standard American Homes Inc. for performance of its contract with Pasadena Building Co. for purchase of two lots.

Circuit Judge Matthew S. Evans found the contract was "so vague and uncertain as to render it unenforceable," and the state judges ruled he was "clearly right."

But the high court noted that Standard American had also claimed certain monetary damages and said it should seek its remedy, if any, for these claims in an action at law.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are trying hard to save their marriage. They went to our minister and he sent them to a Marriage Counselor. The Marriage Counselor said they both needed a psychiatrist. They both couldn't afford to go to a psychiatrist, so my mother is going. The trouble is, I am sure the wrong one is going. My father needs it much worse than my mother. What can be done about this problem? THEIR SON.

DEAR ABBY: The psychiatrist will not waste his time or your mother's money. If she doesn't need treatment, he'll discharge her. In the meantime he'll give some helpful advice on how to live with your father.

DEAR ABBY: My wife died four years ago and none of my four married children offered me a home with them. I own a nicely furnished house but it was lonesome coming home to an empty house every night and eating in restaurants. A respectable widow lady who cleans my house and does my laundry agreed to move into an upstairs bedroom (mine is downstairs) and I was glad to have her. I am 64 and she is 62. My children raised such a fuss you'd think we were doing something immoral (which I give you my word we are not). Should I ask this lady to move out or should I tell my children to leave me alone? PAPPY.

DEAR PAPPY: There is nothing wrong with having a housekeeper live in your home. Tell your children to mind their morals and you'll mind yours.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia coal production in November dropped to 10,010,885 tons but mine employment between October and November increased from 44,304 to 46,229, State Mines Chief Crawford L. Wilson said today.

The November output brought to 101,744,520 tons the total reported for the first 11 months of 1958, a drop of 36,294,308 from the similar 1957 period.

Employment was still more than 12,000 below the November, 1957, payroll.

A total of 139 mine fatalities was reported during the first 11 months of 1958, including 36 in two major mine disasters in the latter part of October.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, Jan. 24, 1959

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — A subterranean sort of day, with practical and useful interests and activities especially favored. Keep emotions under control, however.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Splendid Venus rays! Those in the artistic professions and in the entertainment world should make excellent progress now.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Be guarded in word and action so as not to make needless errors or cause delays. Be careful signing contracts, making promises. You can achieve if conscientious.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — A generous day — with your Moon and Venus in splendid conjunction. Tackle tasks with enthusiasm (no matter how tedious or burdensome they may be) and you will gain ground and great benefit.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Seek to better yourself and your efforts — but without unfairness to others, or over-ambition. Carelessness now could thwart plans. Make some time for relaxation.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — This period may not bring you all you'd like, but conservativeness and reasonableness will aid efforts. Don't reach for the moon. Be satisfied with modest gains.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Commonsense, patience and satisfaction with reasonable advancement or gain in all you need — plus, of course, honest and consistent effort. A fine day for artistic pursuits.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio) — Do your share to maintain even, constructive activity throughout working hours (unless your day should be free for relaxation), and don't heed unreasonable demands. Be careful of decisions.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius) — Responsibilities may seem heavier, but your commonsense and keen perception should save many steps and errors. Don't permit outside influences to upset your plans; be consistently active.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn) — This may be a somewhat dull day. But try to realize that this is generally so for many. In business, professional or domestic affairs, you may have to be patient.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius) — Aspects are not entirely generous now. You may have to prod yourself a little more than usual to accomplish what you want, but you CAN gain, however.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces) — Activities in your particular line should give you pleasure as well as bear fruit. If, of course, you have faith and use your talents rightly. Most obligations should not shirk.

YOUR BOSS TODAY — Considerable cleverness to develop; are versatile, restless, quick of mind and action. You are usually easy to get along with; are gracious, generous, sympathetic. Aim always toward consistency.

YOURSELF TODAY — Don't scatter energies in too many directions. Offer your ideas, business propositions to high (but honorable) bidders, but also listen to others' propositions and suggestions. This is vital to best results, harmony.

Champ Hurdles Bad Suit Break

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Peggy Rotzell, of Philadelphia is the fourth member of our Women's team champions.

In rubber bridge West would surely have saved at five hearts but because the game was duplicate he chose to let Peggy try to make her four spade bid. She made it and her play shows why her team is currently the champion.

A casual glance at all four hands would indicate that West's judgment was good. Apparently Peggy has four losing tricks since the diamonds fail to break.

This bad break did not stop Peggy. She ruffed the second heart lead, drew trumps and played the ace and ten of clubs. West won with the queen and led his singleton diamond. Dummy played the three, East the ten and Peggy the five. The queen of diamonds was played next and won by dummy's ace. Now there was a proven finesse against the jack and Peggy made the hand.

It is worthy of note that Peggy's play guarded against any and all bad breaks and was an absolute sure thing.

Concern Felt

ing its work done. The first four bills to be enacted this session, all of a minor nature, cleared the House yesterday and went to Gov. Tawes.

The Senate also moved to within a step of enactment what probably would have been the first bill of general interest enacted this session. It calls for creation of a special State agency to deal with problems of the aged.

New Bill Questioned
But a constitutional question has been raised about it since it is an appropriation bill passed ahead of the budget, and it may have to go back through the legislative process again. As approved in the Senate and sent back for House concurrence it calls for a $23,000 appropriation.

The Senate also set up for passage a bill attempting to curb oil pollution in Chesapeake Bay. It would require ships to seal their bilge pumps while in transit in the bay and carries a penalty of 30 days to one year in jail and fines of $500 to $2,500 for violators.

The House completed action on a joint resolution dealing with the same subject and sent it to Gov. Tawes. It calls on federal and State agencies to publicize water pollution laws in their dealings with owners of vessels.

Annual wheat production of the United States and Soviet Russia approximately equal each other.
